

How to submit an article to our content management system

In order to be able to submit an article to linux-knowledgebase.com you need to request to upgrade your account to author.

This can be done simply by sending an email to us requesting this. Within the next 24-48 hours your account will be upgraded and you will be able to submit any article to the existing categories.

Submitting an article is very simple. Just browse to the category that you've like to seen your article published and hit the "Add Article" link which can be seen on the top of the page depending the layout. An example screenshot can be seen below:

As soon as you click the button an AJAX window will pop up. There you can fill your article details including meta keywords and description. That is optional and can be filled later by us if you prefer. A screenshot of the article submission can be seen below:

This screenshot shows the top portion of an article submission form. At the top right, there is a 'Close' button. The form includes a 'Category' dropdown menu with 'Security' selected, and a 'Choose Sub category' dropdown menu with 'Advisories' selected. Below these is a 'Title' text input field. A checkbox labeled 'Hide Title' is followed by the instruction: 'Check this box if you want to hide the Title when the full article or the Introduction text of it will be displayed'. The 'Intro text' field is a large text area containing the placeholder text 'Intro text'. Below it is a 'Hide Intro text' checkbox with the instruction: 'Check this box if you want to hide the Introduction text when the full article will be displayed'. The 'Main body' field is another large text area containing the placeholder text 'Main body'. Below it is a 'Hide Main text' checkbox with the instruction: 'Check this box if you want to hide the Main body of the article, so the 'Read more' link will not be displayed'. The 'Meta keywords' field is a text input field. Below it is a tip: 'Tip: for meta-keywords use words related to the article separated by commas (,). For example for an article related to flowers we will use the following meta-keywords: flower, rose, lillum, margarita'. At the bottom left of this section is an 'Add article' button.

Most important aspects of article submission are the Title, the category and subcategory if exist. If you think that your article does not fit into any category please let us know and we will create a new one.

Next screenshot displays the bottom of the AJAX window:

This screenshot shows the bottom portion of the article submission form. It includes a 'Hide Main text' checkbox with the instruction: 'Check this box if you want to hide the Main body of the article, so the 'Read more' link will not be displayed'. Below it is the 'Meta keywords' field, followed by the same tip as in the previous screenshot. The 'Meta description' field is a text input field. Below it are three checkboxes: 'Show on front page', 'Published', and 'Change the Published Date'. The 'Change the Published Date' checkbox is selected, and it is followed by radio buttons for 'Yes' and 'No', with 'No' selected. Below these is the instruction: 'You can change article's publication date if you don't want to be the current one'. At the bottom left is an 'Add article' button.
